

NZISM

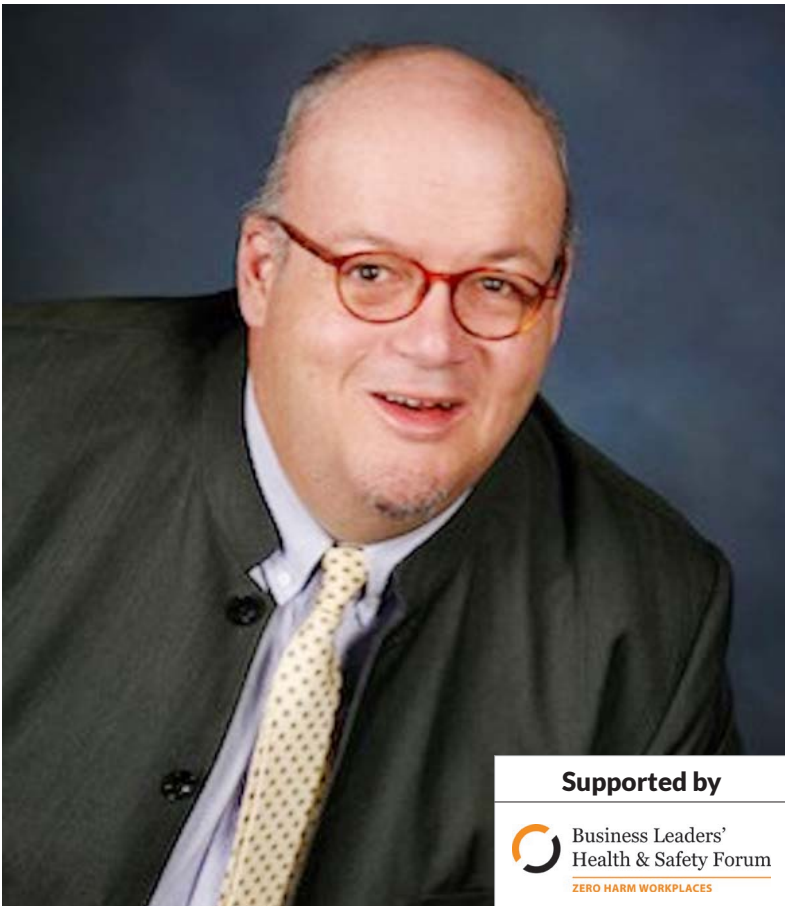

New Zealand Institute of Safety Management

DR TODD CONKLIN, PH.D

Hear the world's most engaging speaker on the new view approach to safety management

JULY 2019

Supported by

Business Leaders'
Health & Safety Forum
ZERO HARM WORKPLACES

When an accident happens in a company, it is considered a “failure.” The Safety II view redefines “failure” and focuses on learning from why things go right at work, as well as why they go wrong. That’s why Dr Conklin believes it is essential to build businesses that ‘fail safely’.

He holds a Ph.D in Organisational Behaviour and speaks across the globe on Human Performance. Those that have heard him present say he is one of the most engaging and entertaining H&S speakers of our time.

A published author of a number of ground breaking books and the host of arguably the best safety podcast on the planet, PreAccident Investigation Podcast, NZISM are privileged to be hosting Dr Conklin at our upcoming roadshow.

Watch Dr Conklin on why leaders need to build businesses that ‘fail safely’.

EARLY BIRD TICKETS AVAILABLE UNTIL 31ST MAY

Todd Conklin in NZ - book now